Priority

It is noted that in addition to the applications recited in the Cross Reference to Related Applications section of the specification there are numerous other co-pending applications which disclose and claim very similar and/or identical subject matter. In accordance with 37 CFR 1.105 and MPEP 704.11(a) subsection G, applicant is respectfully requested to disclose all co-pending applications and related patents and identify the specific claims of those applications and/or patents which may present double patenting issues with the instant application claims.

Inventorship

In view of the papers filed June 3, 2002, it has been found that this nonprovisional application, as filed, through error and without deceptive intent, improperly set forth the inventorship, and accordingly, this application has been corrected in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(a). The inventorship of this application has been changed by the addition of David S. Utley.

The application will be forwarded to the Office of Initial Patent Examination (OIPE) for issuance of a corrected filing receipt, and correction of the file jacket and PTO PALM data to reflect the inventorship as corrected.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Art Unit: 3739

Claims 44 and 77 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. These claims positively recite the human body which is non-statutory subject matter. The limitation "sized and applying sufficient force to the sphincter" is a positive recitation of the device in connection with tissue. It is suggested the language be ameded to recite "sized for applying sufficient force to the sphincter" to avoid the positive recitation of the human body.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 44 and 77 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

These claims positively recite the human body and therefore make the scope of the claim unclear.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claims 44 and 77 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Edwards ('730).

The applied reference has a common inventor with the instant application.

Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131..

The Edwards et al ('730) device comprises an expandable member (10) which is sized to be positioned in a sphincter. It is noted that the recitation regarding the use of the device to treat a sphincter (i.e. intended use) is not relevant to specific structural limitations and bears no patentable weight to the claims. The expandable member has deployed (i.e. inflated) and non-deployed (i.e. non-inflated) states and includes a plurality of energy delivery devices located on the surface. There is also a flexible coupling (15) coupled to the expandable member and a visualization device (49) coupled to the expandable device for imaging tissue (Figures 1a, 1b, 1c).

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970);and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

6,056,744. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the use of the arms having a particular spring force is deemed to be an obvious design modification and/or inherent property of the system.

Claims 1-82 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-51 of U.S. Patent No. 6,254,598. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the use of the arms having a particular spring force is deemed to be an obvious design modification and/or inherent property of the system.

Claims 1-82 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-5 of U.S. Patent No. 6,423,058. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the use of the arms having a particular spring force is deemed to be an obvious design modification and/or inherent property of the system.

Claims 1-82 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-40 of U.S. Patent No. 6,440128. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the use of the arms having a particular spring force is deemed to be an obvious design modification and/or inherent property of the system.

Claims 1-82 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over the claims of copending Application No. 09/776,140. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the particular spring force is deemed an obvious design modification and/or inherent property of the system.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

§ 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
